The background of the page is a close-up, shallow depth-of-field photograph of several laboratory glassware items. In the foreground, a large, clear glass beaker is prominent, its rim and side reflecting light. Behind it, a tall, narrow test tube or graduated cylinder is visible, containing a vibrant blue liquid. To the left, another glass vessel is partially visible, containing a dark red liquid. The background is softly blurred, showing more glassware and a clean, white laboratory setting.
